

Luther Advises on Sale of HRForecast

Munich, 12 November 2024 – Luther is contributing to the creation of the first end-to-end platform for strategic workforce planning.

HRForecast, a Munich-based provider of innovative HR technology solutions, has entered into a transformative partnership with TalentNeuron, the global leader in labor market analytics. Luther advised the founding shareholders of HRForecast on the sale of the company to TalentNeuron. TalentNeuron is a U.S.-based portfolio company of Leeds Equity Partners, a private equity firm specializing in investments within the knowledge sector.

HRForecast's partnership with TalentNeuron will enable strategic workforce planning services that surpass any solution currently on the market, creating new growth opportunities. The combined platform is the first to integrate both internal workforce data and external labor market information into a unified data architecture.

Luther's deal team, led by private equity partner Andreas Vath, supported the formation of this transformative partnership, with the support of Nixon Peabody on U.S. matters.
